Files

- `dfhg-api--BEROSUS-CHALDAEUS.json` (37 records), `dfhg-api--ABYDENUS.json` (13 records) — raw API output (fields: fragment_number, witness, page, text, translation [Müller's Latin], note, commentary, urn).
- `Berossus-fr7--Xisouthros-flood--Greek.md` — the flood fragment: Greek (Syncellus p. 30 A Paris ed., Alexander Polyhistor's excerpt, sections (1)–(7)) + Müller's Latin version from the Armenian Eusebius (Mai's ed. p. 14) + Müller's notes.
- `Berossus--all-fragments-FHG-II.md` — all Berosus fragments (incl. fr. 1 creation/Oannes, fr. 4–5 the ten antediluvian kings, fr. 6 Abraham, etc.).
- `Abydenus--fr1-3-flood--FHG-IV.md` — Abydenus' kings and flood (Seisithros: Kronos' warning, birds, ark in Armenia).
- Converter: `../../../tools/dfhg2md.py`.

Text conventions

Polytonic Greek exactly as DFHG has it (NFC Unicode). The only normalisation: DFHG's OCR artefact "space + U+0313" for elision (e.g. `παρ ̓`) → `᾽`. Müller's inline critical remarks are kept in parentheses (e.g. `(deb. Οτιάρτου)`, `(Σιππάροις Scaliger)`, `(quindecim, Eus.)`, `(scr. πεζῇ; pedestri itinere Eus.)`). Some residual OCR errors are possible (e.g. "Eused." for "Euseb.", "otirtae" in the Latin); verify against the scan in `../Mueller-FHG-II/`.

Line/section numbering

Müller's fragment numbers (fr. 7) and his section numbers (2)–(7) inside the fragment; FHG page (501). Concordance: FHG fr. 7 = FGrH 680 F4.

Assessment

Best freely available clean Greek of the Berossus flood story. Müller's text is old (1848) but adequate; Jacoby (1958) is the critical standard.

Correction (2026-10-16)

DFHG's digital text omits a whole printed line in fr. 7 §2. The cause is homoeoteleuton: καὶ π… is followed by καὶ π…. Müller prints "ἐνθέσθαι δὲ βρώματα καὶ πόματα, ἐμβαλεῖν δὲ καὶ ζῶα πτηνὰ καὶ τετράποδα, καὶ πάντα εὐτρεπισάμενον πλεῖν" (FHG II p. 501, left column = PDF p. 566 of the scan in `../Mueller-FHG-II/`). The restored words are inserted in `Berossus-fr7--Xisouthros-flood--Greek.md` between 〈 〉. The raw API JSON is left as downloaded. Lesson: always check digital Greek against the page images.
