Brief for translators and reviewers – מילים באבן

Read first: `../translation-guidelines.md` (in full; the ★ rules of §5.2), `corpus.md`, `renderings.md`, and the project's annotated file. Then:

- Read the base, not the literature. The base line is the first backticked line of each entry; it comes from `../sources/<source>/<file>.tsv` (filled by `stone_tools.py fill`). Do not change it; if the base is wrong, say so in a note.
- Hebrew / Moabite (reading): never add, drop or move a letter; vowels are a proposal; uncertain words unvocalized;
  the Name unvocalized; glosses only in פירוק. `stone_tools.py verify KEY` must say 0 problems.
- Punic / Aramaic (translation): one line = one line; brackets follow the base; unknown terms transliterated in italics; the reserved words and traps of `renderings.md` §4 (checked by `verify`).
- Bible quotations: print every verse first (`python3 -I ../tools/check_bible_quotes.py --show <book> "<ch> <v>"`), quote it exactly, write `` `...` (ספר פרק:פסוק) ``, and run `check_bible_quotes.py` on the file.
- Tags (guidelines §6.4): [cognate] / [equivalent] / [divergence] / [absent]; the הערות explain the text on its own terms too (the ancient mind).
