Proposals for the corpus renderings 47

Creation corpus, project 4 (`../corpus.md`). Read `../translation-guidelines.md`, `../corpus.md`, `../renderings.md` (§6), `../translator-brief--sumerian.md`, then this file.

Scope

The whole composition: 465 composite lines (labels 1–472; 59, 159, 177–179, 276–277 are not lines of the composite). About 31% of the lines are damaged (the availability survey: 147 damaged, 70 heavily broken).

Two annotated files, drafted by two sequential translators in priority order:

- `annotated-2.rtl.md`: 250–472 (first: Enki fills the Tigris, organizes waters, marsh, sea, rain, fields, tools, building, steppe, fold, boundaries, weaving, and appoints the gods; Inana's complaint and Enki's answer);
- `annotated-1.rtl.md`: 1–249 (second: the hymnic praise, Enki's self-praise, the journey, the blessings of Sumer, Urim, Meluḫḫa, Dilmun, Elam).

Base edition

- Rank 1: ETCSL c.1.1.3 (`../../sources/ETCSL/1.1.3--Enki-and-the-World-Order/`); rank 2: ORACC epsd2/literary Q000334, the same composite lemmatised with morph (`../../sources/ORACC/epsd2-literary--Q000334--Enki-and-the-World-Order/`).
- Rank 3: ETCSL's English (after drafting). Benito 1969, Kramer & Maier 1989, Bottéro & Kramer 1989, Römer 1993 (TUAT III), Vanstiphout 1997: not available (READMEs).

Why this text (guidelines §1, both purposes)

- Genesis: a god orders the world by assigning every domain (waters, marsh, sea, rain, field, steppe, fold, the crafts) to an appointed deity ↔ Gen 1 (ordering by category; the days, months and years ↔ 1:14; the fish and birds of the marsh ↔ 1:20–22; rain ↔ 2:5); Deut 32:8 (borders and the allotment of domains to divine beings); Gen 4:17–22 (culture-bringers: farming, herding, building, weaving, metalwork, music); the one who is left without a portion (Inana ↔ Levi, Deut 10:9, Num 18:20).
- The ancient mind: the me; Enki's character (procreative, clever, generous, self-praising); the Sumerian map (Sumer, Urim, Meluḫḫa, Dilmun, Magan, Elam, the Martu); the temple economy; Inana's restless, unclassifiable power.

Files

`annotated-1.rtl.md`, `annotated-2.rtl.md`, `translation--intro.rtl.md`, `translation.rtl.md` (generated: `python3 -I ../sumerian_tools.py build 4`), `renderings.md`.

Progress

- 2026-10-19, run 2 of 3 (translator; lines 250–472): all 221 entries of 250–472 drafted in `annotated-2.rtl.md` (276–277 are not lines of the composite; noted after 275). Header (base, parsing, numbering, signs, comparisons, tags, what EWO is, the me and Enki, reserved words, names, fixed formulas); 17 sections; one entry per ETCSL line with פירוק (every word; the verbal chain from ORACC Q000334's morph for every finite verb, "ניתוח שלנו" where ORACC has X), תרגומים (ETCSL read after each passage was drafted; every disagreement recorded), הקבלה, הערות (the text on its own terms: Enki's procreative ordering, the marsh and sea, the temple economy, the gods as officials, the crafts, Inana's power and the humour of her complaint); 18 footnotes. Transliterations copied from `transliteration.md` (exact, trailing spaces stripped).

- Main disagreements with ETCSL's English: 261/299/368 no agent in nam-si (ETCSL "It"/"He"); 268 teš₂ gu₇ literal; 273 etc. the formula is zag-ba … gub "set standing at its side", not "placed in charge" (no ugula, no ĝar anywhere in EWO's appointments); 274–275, 309, 326 gu₃ de₂ = "addressed", not "called"; 330 the people (ergative uĝ₃-e, -b-) as subject; 350 no agent (am₃-); 361 du₃ "built", not ETCSL's "created"; 397–446 ḫe₂- + ḫamṭu as affirmative past, not "is to get" / "I made you" (decision 4); 433–434 second person agent; 446 sig₁₀ "to put", not ETCSL's "create"; 447 sig₉ "to put (a cloth on)", not "remove the cover"; 451–452 gu₂ gi₄ "the neck returned", not "overflowed".
- `translation--intro.rtl.md` written for the whole text (6 paragraphs; the next translator may extend the first paragraph when 1–249 are done); `translation.rtl.md` built (`python3 -I ../sumerian_tools.py build 4`: 221 lines, 18 footnotes).
- Review pass (a), fidelity (a separate read-through of all `>` lines against the transliteration and the ORACC morph): 293 `אליו` removed (ši- is a modal prefix, ORACC `ša`, not "toward"); 363 kug re-attached to Inana (`הטהורה [אֵינַנָּה]`); 392 bracket narrowed to the restored root (`ב[יד]ך`); `כְּפִילֵךְ` → `כפלך` 455 (it read "your spindle"); brackets checked against the root rule in every damaged line (e.g. 274–275 only the noun phrase in `[ ]`, the verb root survives; 299 `[אנליל]`, `[מילא]`; `[לצידו העמיד]` 367).
- Review pass (b), consistency (corpus renderings §0–§7, project 2's Sumerian rows, B&F's renderings; `python3 -I ../sumerian_tools.py grep all`): every ĝar = vocalized `שָׂם` (20 lines, table below) and no other `שׂם`; sig₁₀ = (446 ,335) `שָׂת`, sig₉ = (447 ,337) `הטיל`; gub trans. = `העמיד`, intrans. = `עמד`; dug₃ = `טוב` only (259, 298, 333, 351, 420); si = `מילא` tagged (254, 261, 299, 368, 370), lu = `הרבה` tagged (352, 353); gu₃ de₂ = `צעק` / `פנה אל` (never `קרא`); zid = `אמת` (never `טוב`); ki never `אדמה`; edin = `ערבה`; me = `מֵ֫ה`; names vocalized at the first occurrence, Utu / Uttu / Inana / An / Šakkan at every occurrence; the three refrains (261 = 299 = 368; 262 = 369 ≈ 300; the formula ×12) identical except brackets (`verify` reports them only for the brackets); 426 = 427 = 437 in the second half; 393/422 and 394/423 differ exactly as the Sumerian (dug₄/ak; brackets). A reserved-string hit (`ברכוש` contains ברכ) was replaced by `נכסים` in all three refrains; 447 šem₃ no longer transliterated (`הַשֵּׁם` reads "the Name").
- Review pass (c), Hebrew read aloud (the built `translation.rtl.md` as continuous text): 337 plene `ששינו` (`ששנו` read "his year"); 344 punctuation; 353 `הִרְבָּה` vocalized (unvocalized "much"); 402 agreement `בידה הן`; the long epithet chains (267–273, 313–316, 322–324, 331–333, 344–347, 354–356, 362–366, 374–379, 384–385) checked that `את` opens each chain once and the name closes it before the formula; register even, no vav-consecutive.
- Checks: `python3 -I ../sumerian_tools.py verify 4` → OK (notes only: `annotated-1.rtl.md` not yet drafted; coverage 221 of 465, missing 1–249; the three refrains' bracket-only differences); `python3 -I ../../tools/check_bible_quotes.py` on `annotated-2.rtl.md`, `translation.rtl.md`, `translation--intro.rtl.md`, `project.md` → 0 problems.

- Tool fix (corpus-level, for the coordinator to confirm): `../sumerian_tools.py` failed when one annotated file of a two-file project did not exist yet (verify: "missing file" was an error; build: crashed in `sections()`). Now a missing file is a note when another file exists (without `--strict`), and `build` skips it. No other change.
- Not done (outside this run's remit): `annotated-1.rtl.md` (next translator); print stub; corpus files; guidelines.
- 2026-10-19, run 3 of 3 (translator; lines 1–249): all 244 entries of 1–249 drafted in `annotated-1.rtl.md` (59, 159, 177–179 are not lines of the composite; noted after 58, 158, 176). Header (base, parsing, numbering, signs, comparisons, tags, what EWO is and the three movements of 1–249, the me and Enki, reserved words, names, fixed formulas shared with annotated-2); 17 sections; one entry per ETCSL line with פירוק (every word; the verbal chain from ORACC Q000334's morph for every finite verb, "ניתוח שלנו" where ORACC has X), תרגומים (ETCSL read after each passage was parsed; every disagreement recorded), הקבלה, הערות (the text on its own terms: the hymnic self-praise as a genre, Enki's borrowed authority, the temple cult and its personnel, purification rites, the barge procession, the Gulf trade, the Sumerian world map, attitudes to foreigners, the humour of the "debating" fish); 15 footnotes. Transliterations copied from `transliteration.md` (exact, including the catalogue note of line 1; trailing spaces stripped). ETCSL's English for 140–249 was read in one sitting after parsing 140–190 and while parsing 191–249 (its paragraphs straddle our sections); the readings of 191–249 were nevertheless formed from the ORACC morph and checked against it line by line.
- Main disagreements with ETCSL's English (1–249): 2 gud-dam read as agent with ETCSL, but ORACC's copula noted; 21 ki us₂ literal ("made abundance adhere to the earth"), not "established"; 28 tur₃ amaš-e is the ergative subject ("the pen and fold brought"), not "produced by"; 32 ĝal₂, not "fills" (no si); 44–51 the agent is -n- (3rd person), not ETCSL's "you"; 61/87 silim … e "says well-being", "himself" is ETCSL's; 76 ĝal₂ with agent = "gave", not "placed" (no ĝar); 98/165 -na- "to him" (the fish wave to Enki), untranslated by ETCSL; 99 -da- "with him"; 106 la₂ literal (ETCSL "resound"); 109 pad₃ "chose"; 144 e "say" (ETCSL "perform"); 193–209 ḫe₂- as wish throughout (as ETCSL); 247 = 130 (ETCSL narrative "He brought" vs our identical jussive, decision 27); zid = אמת wherever ETCSL has "good".
- `translation--intro.rtl.md` extended: the first paragraph now describes both halves; a new paragraph "השבח העצמי והמסע" (the self-praise as a genre, the borrowed me, the barge, the map of the fates); the "Genesis" paragraph adds 1:14 (Enki counts the days himself), Gen 10 (the map) and the "fate" that sounds like a blessing. `translation.rtl.md` rebuilt (`python3 -I ../sumerian_tools.py build 4`: 465 lines, 33 footnotes).

- Review pass (a), fidelity (a separate read-through of all 244 `>` lines against the transliteration and the ORACC morph): 28 ergative subject (`הרפת והדיר הביאו`); 140 `?` removed so that 140 = 133 (the `?` of ETCSL marks the reading of one sign, noted in the פירוק); brackets checked against the root rule (e.g. 8, 9, 11, 41 `[אנקי]`/`[נוּדִימוּד]` where the core of the name is restored; 125 `[אנקי]`; 165 ,93 the verb root preserved, no brackets; 145 only `[רגל]`; 233 ;`[שפע יהי]` 186); every `( )` checked as an addition (20 `(מניין)`, , `(מן)` 69 , `(למלואו)` 45 `(מתקינים)` 151).
- Review pass (b), consistency (corpus renderings §0–§7, project 2's Sumerian rows, B&F, the ★ rows and the 250–472 Hebrew; `python3 -I ../sumerian_tools.py grep all`): ĝar = vocalized `שָׂם` only (35, 43, 65, 153, 198, 206; table below); gub = `העמיד`/`עמד`; the formula in 239 (`לצידו העמיד`, without "אנקי", which is not in the line); si = `מלא` (20, tagged), lu = `רבה` (205 ,21, tagged), šar₂ = `רב` (206 ,136, tagged); dug₃ = `היטיב`/`טוב` only (29, 75, 78, 94, 95, 112, 151, 152); zid = `אמת`; ki never `אדמה`; ki ud e₃-a = (376 = ,76) `המקום שבו היום יוצא`; ud e₃ … ud šu₂ = `מצאת היום עד בוא היום` (193, = G&S 187 with ud); mu sa₄ = (147 ,94 ,78) `קרא שם`, mu pad₃ = 410 = 197 ;(216) `נקב` and 198 ≈ 411 (identical Hebrew); 130 = 247, 138 = 172, 61 = 87, 133 = 140 (identical Hebrew); 131/248, 132/249 differ exactly as the Sumerian; names vocalized at first occurrence, An / Magan / Ur at every occurrence (218 `אור` fixed: unvocalized "light"), Sumer also at 192, 205. Three reserved-string collisions found by `verify` and removed: `דברך` (163) `סוחור־מש` → (רמש) `סוחורמש` ;(79) `המוביל` → (ברא) `בראש` ;(34 ,32) `הדבר שלך` → (ברך).
- Review pass (c), Hebrew read aloud (the built `translation.rtl.md`, 1–249 as continuous text, then across the seam 249/250): 115 `(הוא)` added (the captain commands); 128 punctuation; 196 `מקום הולדת האלים שלך` (was "שבו אלים נולדים לך"); the epithet chains of 1–16, 61–80, 134–139, 166–175 checked for one subject per chain; the fates (192–249) read as one register of wishes (`יתרומם` ,`ירבו` ,`יהיו`); register even, no vav-consecutive.
- Checks: `python3 -I ../sumerian_tools.py verify 4 --strict` → OK (465 entries; no notes); `python3 -I ../../tools/check_bible_quotes.py` on `annotated-1.rtl.md`, `annotated-2.rtl.md`, `translation--intro.rtl.md`, `translation.rtl.md`, `project.md`, `renderings.md` → 0 problems.
- Not done (outside this run's remit): print stub; corpus files (`corpus.md`, `renderings.md`, `parallels-index.md`); guidelines.
- 2026-10-21, cross-corpus harmonization (the lead's decisions on STATUS.md §6; corpus `renderings.md` §8): 83 and 293 šudu₃ `בברכה` → `בתפילה` (šudu₃ = בְּרָכָה = Akk. ikribu; sizkur₂ = תְּפִלָּה, a-ra-zu = תַּחֲנוּן); 106 nam-šub `וקסם` → `ולחש` (= šiptu; Enmerkar 134 `שיר טהור, קסם`); `סַפִּיר` vocalized at its first occurrence in each file (246, 350) and the [equivalent] note (Exod 24:10, Ezek 1:26, Job 28:6) added at 246. Already in line: 65 `אסף ואסף` (ur₄), כְּרִי (guru₇), הַ־מָה, אֵינֶנָּה. Not changed: 142 `המלחשים` (ka-mu₇-ĝal₂, the exorcist: a title, not the noun tu₆). Open decision 1 settled.

Distribution of ĝar (= שָׂם) in 1–249

Verb	Lines	Objects
ĝar שָׂם	35, 43, 65, 153, 198, 206	the settled cities (המושָׁמות); word and decision "to their place"; the me in Enki's hand (65); the uzga shrine; the head-crown at the birth of a lord; the sheepfolds
ĝal₂ with agent נתן	34, 76, 222, 230	grace on the girl's head; the decreeing of fates "in my hand" (76); chairs and birds' cries as ornament
šum₂ נתן	18, 121, 193, 240, 241, 244	decision to the assembly; the me to the people; the fish-spawn's place, the date palm to the field; strength to the king (by Enlil)
rig₇ העניק במתנה	132, 249	animals to the Martu
lu רבה; šar₂ רב	21, 205; 136, 206	things at Enki's word; Sumer's cows; the countless me; Sumer's sheep
si מלא	20	the "full (count of) heads" of the people

Finding: as in 250–472, no living creature is "placed": the me are placed in the hand (65; cf. 433 the woman's tongue in the mouth), creatures are given (šum₂, rig₇) or wished to multiply (ḫe₂-lu-lu). The only si "fill" of 1–249 is the assembled people (20); the waters are filled by no one.

Distribution of ĝar (= שָׂם) and of the other "placing" verbs in 250–472

ĝar שָׂם	250, 285, 286, 291, 292, 302, 312, 338, 341, 342, 359, 372, 373, 375, 411, 433, 442, 445, 454, 466	the eye; a shrine (×2); the head, the hearts; mounds made fields; the brick-mould; the builder's cord; a house; the fold; foundation-platforms in the cities and plots in the fields for the Anuna (372–373); Utu "placed" in might; the crown; the woman's tongue in the mouth (433); a garment; heads like seed; a prohibition
gub העמיד (trans.) / עמד	273 … 386 (the formula ×12), 418; 252, 375, 405, 436	every appointed god; the u_5 bird at Nanše's feet; intrans.: Enki stands, Utu stands, Ninisina stands by An, the shepherd's staff stands by Inana
šum₂ נתן	274, 275, 319, 326, 359, 434	carp to the marsh, reeds to the reedbed, oxen, barley to the field, fat and cream, spindle and pin lu הרבה	352, 353	the steppe animals
si מילא	254, 261, 299, 368, 370	the Tigris with water; Ekur with goods (×3); boundary pegs

Finding: in EWO ĝar is for structures and placements (shrines, houses, folds, dwellings, the woman's tongue); living creatures are "given" (šum₂) or "multiplied" (lu), and gods are "made to stand" (gub). Humans are never "placed" (contrast בראשית ב:ח, וַיָּשֶׂם שָׁם אֶת הָאָדָם); in 250–472 they appear only as eaters (260) and as "the people" whose hand is widened (330).

Key findings for the commentary (Enki and the World Order 250–472)

1. Gen 1:20–22, who fills the waters? Enki fills (si) the Tigris with his water-semen (254; Sumerian a = "water" and "semen") – the river conceives from the god and brings water, barley and beer (259–260). The marsh is addressed (gu₃ de₂, not "called"/named) and given carp; the reedbed is given reeds (274–275): a divine speech to a water-place followed by fish, as in וַיֹּאמֶר אֱלֹהִים יִשְׁרְצוּ הַמַּיִם – but the fish are distributed, not brought forth, and nothing is blessed, multiplied or "according to its kind" ([absent] in all twelve appointments). The sea is "filled" by no one: its goddess Nanše is appointed over it (306–308) and is its tax-collector, sending "good" fish and "sweet" birds to Enlil (418–421). The only "filling" in the text goes to Enlil's temple (261, 299, 368: the refrain).

2. Fish and birds together, again: the net-god's three tools (279–281: throw-net – fish; snare – "what is born"; cord-net – bird) and Nanše's "fish good and good, birds sweet and sweet" (420). As in Bird and Fish, the two are neighbours of one marsh economy, not two ends of an axis; their place is the gods' table (↔ קהלת ט:יב, כַּדָּגִים ... וְכַצִּפֳּרִים).
3. The sea is a terrifying shrine, not a chaos-monster (285–298): Enki "places a shrine in the sea"; its waves and melam are fearsome and the Anuna dare not approach – the awe of holiness (↔ Ezek 28:2 מוֹשַׁב אֱלֹהִים יָשַׁבְתִּי בְּלֵב יַמִּים; Ps 93:4). Against Gen 1:21's tanninim (and Tiāmat) this is [divergence]: the sea is an ordered domain from the start. Its "vastness" (niĝ₂-daĝal, 307) is Ps 104:25's רְחַב יָדָיִם.
4. Gen 2:5 rain: "he addressed the rain of heaven" (309; šeĝ₁₄ an-na = מְטַר הַשָּׁמַיִם, Deut 11:11) and appointed Iškur, the storm-god who "rides the great storm" (313 ↔ Deut 33:26, Ps 68:5) and is the "bolt" of heaven's interior (314 ↔ Job 38:10; Gen 7:11, 8:2) and its canal inspector (315): rain as a heavenly irrigation canal.
5. Deut 32:8 – borders: "zones he heaped, pegs he filled" (370; in dub, bulug si), then "for the Anuna – in the city foundation-platforms he placed, in the fields plots" (371–373). The verbs differ from בְּהַנְחֵל ... בְּהַפְרִידוֹ ... יַצֵּב: dub, si, ĝar. The verb of יַצֵּב (gub "set standing") is the appointment formula itself – its object is the god, not the border; and the allotment is of places to gods, not of peoples to gods (Deut 32:8–9 כִּי חֵלֶק יְהוָה עַמּוֹ). Nisaba repeats 370 as her daily office (416). A heap as border marker ↔ Gen 31:52 (our proposal).
6. Gen 1:16–18 – the sun: Utu is appointed "in the circuit of heaven and earth" (380, the only expanded formula) as hero, bull, herald and judge (374–379), born of the moon's wife Ningal (the sun is the moon's son: the reverse of הַמָּאוֹר הַגָּדֹל first). ↔ Ps 19:6–7 (the hero; וּתְקוּפָתוֹ ↔ niĝin₂).
7. Gen 4 – culture as office, not invention: the farmer Enkimdu "man of dyke and canal" (324 ↔ 4:2, עֹבֵד אֲדָמָה; 9:20, אִישׁ הָאֲדָמָה) and the shepherd Dumuzid (366 ↔ Abel, רֹעֵה צֹאן; Jabal, 4:20) are appointed one after the other; the builder Mušdama's vaults reach "the midst of heaven like Tiranna, the rainbow" (346 ↔ 11:4, 9:13); Kulla of the bricks (339 ↔ 11:3); Ninmug the metalworker of the Land (409 ↔ Tubal-cain, 4:22); Inana's drums of lament and joy (447–448 ↔ Jubal, 4:21; Miriam's drum). In Genesis the arts are human inventions in Cain's line; here every one is a goddess's or god's office.
8. Levi and the daughters of Zelophehad – Inana without a portion (387–423): after the twelfth appointment Inana "alone is left behind from the rites (ĝarza₂ = parṣu)" – the reverse of Levi, who has no land because the cult is his portion (Deut 10:9; Num 18:20) [divergence]. Her "I am a woman – what have you done to my being alone?" (393/422) and Enki's "what have I diminished for you? what shall I add to you?" (lal / taḫ, 425–437) are the vocabulary of the allotment of an inheritance to women (Num 27:4 וְנִגְרָעָה ... וְנוֹסַף 36:3, לָמָּה יִגָּרַע; our proposal); the measuring rope is Nisaba's (414 ↔ Ps 16:6, Deut 32:9 חֶבֶל נַחֲלָתוֹ), and Inana does not even know how to hang a rope in a well (450).

9. Deut 32:39 / Isa 45:7 – the opposites: "what is not to be destroyed you destroyed, what is not to be placed you placed" (446): gul / sig₁₀, not "create" (ETCSL's false echo). The opposites are not light/dark or death/life by one god, but the improper: Inana's office is to break the order (↔ Jer 1:10 וְלַהֲרוֹס לִבְנוֹת, [equivalent] for gul = הרס).
10. "Put words in the mouth" with *ĝar (433 "the woman's tongue in the mouth you placed") ↔ Num 23:5, Exod 4:15 – the reserved שָׂם pays off; and heads heaped "like dust", placed "like seed" (445 ↔ 2 Kgs 10:8 שִׂימוּ אֹתָם שְׁנֵי צִבֻּרִים; Gen 3:19 עָפָר).
11. "Good" (dug₃) is said of the beer from the river (259), the shrine (298), the bread-goddess Ezina (333), the steppe (351) and the fish (420) – of things to eat and places, never as a god's verdict on his work ([divergence] ↔ וַיַּרְא אֱלֹהִים כִּי טוֹב).
12. ETCSL's false echoes corrected: 361 "created" (du₃ "built"), 446 "create" (sig₁₀ "put"), 274/309/326 "called" (gu₃ de₂ "addressed"), 273 "placed in charge" (gub "set standing").

The ancient mind (for the reader; see the intro)

Enki orders the world sexually (the Tigris as bride, 252–260; the brick-clay "penetrated like fine oil", 336; the steppe animals made to mate, 353) and administratively (gods as canal inspectors, farmers of Enlil, tax-collectors, scribes). The landscape and economy of southern Mesopotamia are the map of creation: rivers, marsh, lagoon and sea, a little rain, irrigated fields, steppe, folds, brick cities, weaving houses – and all abundance flows to Enlil's temple in Nippur. The school is visible in the lists (three barleys, the midwife's kit, the goldsmith's tools). The humour: the great goddess of love and war, "lady of the great me" (364), cries that she has nothing, enviously listing her sisters' little tools; Enki answers with a counter-question and a catalogue of her uncontainable powers (reversal of right and left, of men and women, of straight and tangled threads; war omens; heaps of heads), ending with a father's tease (449–450).

Key findings for the commentary (Enki and the World Order 1–249)

1. Gen 1:14 – Enki is the calendar. "Counting the days, bringing the months into their houses, to complete the years; the completed years – to give a decision to the assembly; the decision-seeking of the day – to put in order" (17–19; again 44–45: "the month into its house he brought ... its count reached"). Days, months and years in one line, as in וְהָיוּ לְאֹתֹת וּלְמוֹעֲדִים וּלְיָמִים וְשָׁנִים – but no luminary, no רָקִיעַ, no "separating": the god counts time himself, like a temple administrator, and the year is "completed" and judged in the assembly [divergence]. The moon's "house" is where it disappears at the end of the month. Job 39:1–2 has the same sequence as EWO 12–17: the births of ibexes and does in the hills that only God sees (הֲיָדַעְתָּ עֵת לֶדֶת יַעֲלֵי-סָלַע), then תִּסְפֹּר יְרָחִים (our proposal).

2. Gen 1:20–22 – fish and birds together, again, but as the god's scenery. At Enki's house in the Abzu "the suḫur carp among the honey-plants extends its beard, the eštub carp among the small reeds extends its tail to him, the birds in their nests return chirps with him" (97–99; repeated 163–165, where the fish "make a debate" for him). Water-creatures and birds in one scene, as in 1:20, but neither made, nor blessed, nor multiplied [divergence; absent]. The bird is named by its kind (buru₅, mušen; gamgam "bird of heaven", 187 ↔ עוֹף הַשָּׁמָיִם), never by its flight (dal does not occur in 1–249). The agargara "fish-spawn" (the closest Sumerian word to שֶׂרֶץ) receive a place from the god in Dilmun (240), and the god eats the fish and dates (240–241; cf. Gen 1:29).
3. Gen 1:21 – the tanninim are Enki's titles and his choir. "Exalted great dragon (ušum-gal) standing in Eridu" (5) is an honorific of the god himself; the fifty laḫama of the Engur (Akk. laḫmu, in Enūma eliš a monster of Tiāmat's army) "speak affectionately" to him (186). The beings of the deep are a household, not chaos [divergence].
4. Blessing vs fate. Every act of "blessing" is nam tar "decree a fate" (43, 75, 95, 191, 211, 220). Inside the fates the ḫe₂- wishes come closest to Gen 1:22, 28: "House Sumer – may your cow-pens be built, may your cows multiply (lu)! may your sheepfolds be set up, may your sheep be myriads (šar₂)!" (205–206) – but the wish is spoken to the land about its herds, exactly like וּבֵרַךְ ... שְׂגַר אֲלָפֶיךָ וְעַשְׁתְּרֹת צֹאנֶךָ (Deut 7:13) and Rebekah's הֱיִי לְאַלְפֵי רְבָבָה (Gen 24:60), not to the animals (וַיְבָרֶךְ אֹתָם ... פְּרוּ וּרְבוּ). Fertility also follows the god's going forth (52–58: "at his going forth to the seeded people – true seed shall come out; ... true lambs, calves, kids shall be born") ↔ בָּרוּךְ ... שְׂגַר אֲלָפֶיךָ ... בָּרוּךְ אַתָּה בְּצֵאתֶךָ (Deut 28:4–6) and אֱלֹהִים בְּצֵאתְךָ ... גֶּשֶׁם נְדָבוֹת (Ps 68:8–10). For the land animals (1:24–25), which Genesis does not bless, EWO has fertility without a blessing word. "With Enlil, where the eye is on the lands, I decree good (dug₃) fates" (75): eye and "good" in one line, but the good is decreed in advance, not seen afterwards (↔ 1:31) [divergence].
5. Creation by word? "Your mouth – when it opens – a thing multiplies and multiplies, abundance it made adhere to the earth" (21); "by my speaking cow-pens are built, folds enclosed" (89); "by my word heaps are gathered" (93) ↔ כִּי הוּא אָמַר וַיֶּהִי (Ps 33:9), 1:3. But the word is not a command to something that does not yet exist: it is a fertile mouth among existing things [equivalent/divergence].

6. Gen 10, Deut 32:8 – the map of the nations. The journey (117–133, 188–249) is a Sumerian world map, from the centre outwards: Sumer ("from the rising of the day to its setting" it gives the me to the people, 193 ↔ Mal 1:11), Ur (אוּר, Gen 11:28), Meluḫḫa "the black land" (the Indus; in 1st-millennium texts Nubia = כּוּשׁ, Gen 10:6, 2:13; our proposal), Magan (Oman) and Dilmun (Bahrain; "purified", given its goddess Ninsikila, fish and dates – the "eastern" pure land, ↔ 2:8 and the flood story's Dilmun "where Utu rises"), Elam (עֵילָם, Gen 10:22, 14:1) and Marḫaši (their houses destroyed, their silver and lapis brought to Nibru), and the Martu nomads "who have no city, no house" (הָאֱמֹרִי, Gen 10:16), to whom Enki gives animals (↔ Jabal אֲבִי יֹשֵׁב אֹהֶל וּמִקְנֶה, Gen 4:20; Jer 35:7). Earlier, Enki "made the people dwell in their dwellings, made them cling to their herdsman, made them firm" (46–51) ↔ בְּהַנְחֵל עֶלְיוֹן גּוֹיִם (Deut 32:8), Ps 68:7. Differences: the map is of fates (each land's nature and products), not of descent; the "nations" are trading partners, an enemy and nomads; the order is centre–periphery, with all wealth flowing to Nibru (130 = 247).
7. Gen 11:4 – the temple that touches heaven, as praise. "May your giguna adhere to heaven! May your true house raise a hand to heaven!" (207–208); "Sanctuary of Ur – may (its) neck rise to heaven!" (218); "Enlil pronounced your exalted name" (216 ↔ אֲשֶׁר פִּי יְהוָה יְקֻבָּנּוּ, Isa 62:2). The Babel motifs – tower to heaven, a name – are here the god's wishes for his land, and the name is given, not made [divergence].
8. Elsewhere: the me "placed in my hand" (65, ĝar) and the fates "given in my hand" (76) – Enki's authority is delegated; the seal-keeper of heaven and earth (72 ↔ Joseph, Gen 41:42); the mother-goddess "called me a good name" (78 ↔ Eve, Gen 4:25; Eccl 7:1); a shrine named with a good name (94 ↔ Gen 28:19); "the place my heart chose" (109 ↔ Deut 12:5); rain from heaven above and the carp-flood from below (90–91 ↔ Gen 49:25 בִּרְכֹת שָׁמַיִם מֵעָל בִּרְכֹת תְּהוֹם רֹבֶצֶת תָּחַת); ships bringing gold, silver and peacocks (128–130, 229–231 ↔ 1 Kgs 10:22, 9:28); "your silver – gold!" (231 ↔ Isa 60:17); the cosmic tree and its shade (4, 6, 166–167 ↔ Ezek 31:3–6); linen-clad priests (143 ↔ Ezek 44:17); Sumerian loanwords: ma₂-laḫ₅ > (182) מַלָּח, gu-za > (222) כִּסֵּא, na-gada > (47) נוֹקֵד [cognate]; "the king to whom Enlil gave strength destroyed their houses, [demolished] their walls" (244–245 ↔ 1 Sam 2:10; Ezek 26:4 וְשִׁחֲתוּ חֹמוֹת ... וְהָרְסוּ).

The ancient mind in 1–249 (for the reader; see the intro)

The hymn shows a god who is at once nature (the bull, the mes tree, the dragon, the shade, the vine), administrator (calendar, seal, judge, fate-decreer) and patron of human life (the young man's vigour, the girl's grace, the shepherd's song, the churning cowherd). Its self-praise is a recognised genre of royal and divine speech – and it unwittingly reveals the hierarchy: Enki's me and fates were "placed in his hand" by Enlil, and all the wealth of the world goes to Nibru. The cult is concrete: exorcists of Eridu, linen-clad priests, treasurers (enkum, ninkum), purification of the river and the shrine with juniper, chants and incantations, the barge with its captain, sailor, stroke-callers and punt-pole – the god's statue really travelled by boat. The world is a merchant's and a soldier's map: the Gulf trade (cedar, timber, gold, silver, carnelian, peacocks, tin-bronze), admiration for the far "black land", generosity to the Martu nomads, and war and plunder for Elam – the enemy that would one day destroy Ur. The humour is gentle: the fish of Eridu "debate" for the god and wave their tails to him.

1. Settled 2026-10-21 (the lead's cross-corpus harmonization: me = הַ־מֶּה in all corpora, me maḫ = הַ־מֶּה הַנִּשְׂגָּבִים; the flood corpus aligns). (coordinator, 2026-10-19) me = הַ־מֶּה (transliterated, always vocalized; project 2's choice), while the flood corpus's Sumerian Flood Story renders me maḫ הַכֹּחוֹת הַנִּשְׂגָּבִים. EWO uses me dozens of times as a technical term, which argues for the transliteration plus an explanation; recommendation: align the flood corpus (two lines) with הַ־מֶּה later. Translator (run 2): confirmed – EWO 364 and 415 use me as the technical term (גבירת הַ־מֶּה הגדולים, אל הַ־מֶּה הגדולים היא פונה).

2. (run 2) The appointment formula is {d}en-ki-ke₄ zag-ba nam-mi-in-gub = אנקי לצידו העמיד. (239 and twelve times in 273–386; 380 expanded אנקי – בהיקף השמים והארץ – לצידו העמיד.). Corpus renderings §6.2 expected "… ugula-bi-še₃ ĝar" = לְפָקִיד עֲלֵיהֶם שָׂם: there is no ugula and no ĝar in any EWO appointment (ETCSL's "placed in charge" is a paraphrase). gub = הֶעֱמִיד (B&F, corpus §6.2), zag-ba "at its side" = לצידו (zag is also "border": the note gives יַצֵּב גְּבֻלֹת). Recommendation: remove the ugula row from corpus §6.2 (or keep it only for other texts) and add this formula. Alternative Hebrew: אנקי על צידו הציב (closer to יַצֵּב, but הציב would pre-empt the Deut 32:8 comparison and break B&F's gub = העמיד).
3. gu₃ de₂: with an addressee = (415 ,326 ,309 ,275 ,274) פָּנָה אֶל; without = ,374 ,255) צָעַק (460 ,428, following project 2. In 428 ("the woman's pleasant voice you poured") צעקת is stiff; alternative השמעת (by sense), but it would break the one-verb rule. Recommendation: keep.
4. ḫe₂- + ḫamṭu in Inana's complaint and Enki's answer (397–446) = affirmative past (השמעת ,נשאה ,קיבלה …), and the copula ḫe₂-em = a nominal sentence (מיילדת הארץ היא). ETCSL reads the complaint as prescriptive future ("is to get") and the answer as Enki's causation ("I made you …", except 445–446 "you heap … you destroy"). We follow the forms: the -e- of ḫa-ba-e-, ḫu-mu-e-ni- is the 2nd person (agent), and the same morphology runs through 428–446, so we render the whole answer in the 2nd person. This departs from the brief's default (ḫe₂- = jussive). Exceptions: 451–452 ḫe₂-em-gi₄ = wish (תשוב), 454 na- + marû = prohibition. Alternative: ETCSL's reading (future in 397–421; "I made you" in 428–444). Recommendation: keep ours, with ETCSL's reading in every תרגומים bullet.
5. 370 in dub = תחומים ערם (literal: dub "heap" = ערם as in 328, 416, 445) and bulug si-si* = יתדות מילא ומילא (literal, si = מילא tagged). ETCSL "demarcated borders and fixed boundaries". The literal Hebrew is opaque without the note; alternative by sense: תחומים תחם, יתדות (גבול) נעץ. Recommendation: keep literal (the verbs matter for the Deut 32:8 comparison).
6. Three "lady" words kept apart: in-nin₉ = (426 ,364 ,332 ,306) גְּבֶרֶת, nin = גְּבִירָה (,364 418 ,396; project 2), nu-gig = הַגְּבִירָה (404, corpus §7). 404 nu-gig an-na = הגבירה של אַן (because 405 has her standing by An); ETCSL "mistress of heaven" (↔ Jer 7:18 לִמְלֶכֶת הַשָּׁמַיִם) in the note.
7. galam* by sense: בתחכום (286–285, praise of a building) vs B&F's נוכל (122, an insult). One Sumerian word, two Hebrew words, by sense; recommendation: keep both and note the split in the corpus renderings.
8. iri-gal* (376) = העיר הגדולה (literal, the note says "= the netherworld"); the Song of the Hoe (project 2, 74) has השאול. Recommendation: literal in both (the Sumerian euphemism is part of the meaning); the Hoe line to be changed by the coordinator, or keep the split.
9. 283 the net-god's name ({d}UR₅.ŠA, ORACC |HI×AŠ₂|-ŠA) is left … as ETCSL leaves it; the readings are in the note.

10. lal* "diminish" = המעיט, taḫ "add" = גרע ;(437–425) הוסיף avoided so as not to pre-empt Deut 4:2 / Num 27:4 / 36:3 (parallels index). Alternative גרעתי would make the Num 27/36 contact visible in the line itself.
11. tibira* = חֹרֵשׁ :(409) צורף would pre-empt Gen 4:22, נַפָּח contains the reserved root נפח (project 2 §3). ORACC "sculptor", ETCSL "metal-worker".
12. kurun₂* = שכר משובח (259; Akk. kurunnu "fine beer"); ETCSL "wine". יין stays for ĝeštin.
13. ĝarza₂ / mar-za* = (423 ,394 ,388 ,387) פולחן, as Akk. parṣu (corpus §3). ETCSL "functions", others "offices, prerogatives". פולחן makes the Levi contrast sharp (Levi lacks land, Inana lacks the cult); alternative משרה / תפקיד (closer to ETCSL, blunter for the comparison).
14. pu₂* in 450 = באר (a deep well with a rope) vs B&F בריכה (pool): by sense.
15. gana₂* in 373 = חלקה, to keep it apart from a-šag₄ (שדה) in the same line; elsewhere gana₂ = שדה (326 ,321, Hoe).
16. gen₆* (392) = כונן, as its Akkadian equivalent kânu D (corpus §3, ↔ וַיְהִי כֵן); ETCSL "to confirm".
17. Names set in this run (binding for the first part too): Enbilulu אֶנְבִּילוּלוּ, Enkimdu אֶנְקִימְדוּ, Kulla כּוּלָּה, Mušdama מוּשְׁדַּמָּה, Tiranna טִירַנָּה (with "הקשת"), Ninisina נִין־אִיסִינָה (as the Hoe), Ninmug נִין־מוּג, Nisaba נִיסַבָּה (corpus §6.4; the Hoe has נִיסָּבָה : harmonize), Ningal נִינְגַּל, Suen סוּאֵן, Kulaba כּוּלַבָּה, E-ana אֵאַנָּה, E-engura אֵ־אֶנְגּוּרָה, Sirara סִירָרָה, Dumuzid-ušumgal-ana דּוּמוּזִי־אוּשׁוּמְגַּל־אַנָּה. Not set here (they are in 1–249): Ninsikila, Sirsir, Niĝir-sig, Kulaba's other names – for the next translator.
18. Tool change in the corpus-level `../sumerian_tools.py` (a missing annotated file of a two-file project is a note, and `build` skips it; see Progress). The coordinator should confirm or revert.
19. (run 3) ušumgal = (5) דְּרָקוֹן־עֲנָק, as corpus §3 / project 2: an epithet of Enki. The [equivalent] with (1:21) הַתַּנִּינִם הַגְּדֹלִים is made in the apparatus and the parallels index only. Recommendation: keep.
20. a ri* "to inseminate" = (68 ,2) הִזְרִיעַ, which shares the root of numun = זֶרַע; a itself stays (מֵי אמת שהראם הגדול הזריע 68) מַיִם. Alternative: הֵטִיל (מים) (literal ri "impose", but sig₉ = הטיל). Recommendation: keep; the water/semen pun is explained in the note, as in 254.
21. silim ... e/di* = (87 ,61 ,39) אמר שלום: literal ("to say well-being"); ETCSL "justly praises himself" (61, 87; "himself" is not in the Sumerian). In 61/87 the Hebrew שלום כאמת אומר is opaque without the footnote. Alternative: שבח כאמת אומר (by sense, but it loses the link with 39 and with the greeting שָׁלוֹם). Recommendation: keep literal.
22. gu₂ gur* "to heap up" = (93 ,57 ,27) נָאֲגַר, by sense (cf. אֲגֹרָה בַּקָּצִיר, Prov 6:8): עָרַם is dub (annotated-2), צָבַר would echo Gen 41:49 (already a parallel at 328) and is barred in the Gilgameš corpus. Alternative: literal "bend the neck".
23. pad₃* by sense in three lines: בָּחַר (109 "the place my heart chose" ↔ Deut 12:5), מָצָא (195 "no one finds it" ↔ Job 11:7), נָקַב (216 mu pad₃ "pronounce the name", project 2 G&S 188 ↔ Isa 62:2). The Deut 12:5 contact rests on our בחר; alternative מצא there too ("the place my heart found").

24. Three "brother/first" words kept apart: pap = בָּכִיר (64, Enlil "my senior brother"), šeš-gal = (71) הָאָח הַגָּדוֹל, dumu-saĝ = בֵּן בְּכוֹר (בְּכוֹר ;80 ,68 only here).
25. Wild animals named from Deut 14:5: alim = (12) תְּאוֹ, lu-lim = (12) אַיָּל, taraḫ = אַקּוֹ (,107 170 ,152 ,115: the barge "Ibex of the Abzu", 2026-10-23 ;אַקּוֹ־הָאַפְסוּ harmonization: יָעֵל, יָעֵל־הָאַפְסוּ, as taraḫ in Enmerkar, Agade and Etana – šeg₉ keeps יָעֵל for now; then row 22: šeg₉ = איליִ־בר ועזִי־בר 353 ,[איל־בר] 13 ,אַיִל־בָּר?), keeping šeg₉ = יָעֵל and šeg₉-bar = עֵז־בָּר? of annotated-2 (353). All identifications uncertain (ETCSL bison, stag, ibex, wild goat; taraḫ "stag"). Alternative for taraḫ: יָעֵל (then šeg₉ needs another word in both files).
26. buru₅{mušen}* = (99) צִפּוֹר, as Grain and Sheep 173, i.e. the same Hebrew as mušen (corpus §6.1). buru₅ is a small bird ("sparrow") and also a locust swarm; the determinative mušen is in the line. Alternative: צִפּוֹר קְטַנָּה (ETCSL "small birds"). Related to project 3 open decision 1 (mušen = צִפּוֹר, settled 2026-10-21).
27. ḫe₂-* in the fates (191–249) = wish (יובילו ,יתרומם ,ירבו ,יהיו), including ḫamṭu forms (126–130, 222, 227). 130 = 247 get identical Hebrew (!לאנליל, מלך כל הארצות – אל ניפור – יובילו), although ETCSL reads 247 as narrative past ("He brought") after 245's past tenses. This differs from annotated-2 decision 4 (ḫe₂- + ḫamṭu = affirmative past in Inana's complaint). Alternative for 247: הוביל אכן (then 130 ≠ 247, justified by context).
28. String collisions avoided (proposal for corpus §5.3): דברך contains ,32) הדבר שלך → ברך בראש ;(34 contains המוביל → ברא (79, palil); סוחורמש contains (163) דַּג־הַסּוּחַר־מַשׂ → רמש; unvocalized אור (Ur) reads "light" → always שומר ;אוּר (Sumer) reads "guard" → vocalized at 143, 192, 205.
29. nitaḫ₂* "male, man" = (235) גֶּבֶר, not זָכָר (would pre-empt זָכָר וּנְקֵבָה, Gen 1:27).
30. umun₂* (196) = רחם (uncertain translation) after ETCSL "matrix"; ORACC "knowledge". Alternative: דעת/תבונה (ORACC), which would make 196 a line about wisdom rather than birth.
31. la-ḫa-ma* = (186) לַחֲמָה, transliterated; the note gives Akk. laḫmu (שָׂעִיר in Enūma eliš, שְׂעִירִים in the flood corpus). Alternative: הַשְּׂעִירִים (would align with EE but make a Lev 17:7 echo in the line).
32. li* (juniper) = בְּרוֹשׁ (149; Akk. burāšu, the cognate of בְּרוֹשׁ); ETCSL "tall juniper".
33. 239, the appointment formula without the subject: את נִין־סִיקִילָה לצידו העמיד. – the line has no {d}en-ki-ke₄, so the ★ formula appears without אנקי; it is the first of the thirteen appointments (the ugula question of decision 2 is thus settled for the whole text).
34. kur gig₂* = (221) אֶרֶץ שְׁחוֹרָה; the Meluḫḫa ~ Kush (Gen 10:6, 2:13) contact is our proposal, based on the 1st-millennium use of Meluḫḫa for Nubia; in EWO Meluḫḫa is the Indus.
35. Metals: kug = כֶּסֶף (246 ,231; G&S), kug-sig₁₇ = זָהָב, kug-babbar = (129) כֶּסֶף, urud = נְחוֹשֶׁת, nagga (an-na) = בְּדִיל, zabar = אֶרֶד (232; modern word, Hebrew has no biblical word for bronze apart from נְחוֹשֶׁת).
36. ḫa-ia₃{mušen}* = טַוָּסִים? (229; post-biblical word) to avoid writing תֻּכִּיִּים, which would turn the 1 Kgs 10:22 parallel into the translation itself.

37. e₂-gal* = הֵיכָל, gu-za = כִּסֵּא, maₓ-laḫ₅ = מַלָּח, na-gada = נוֹקֵד – Sumerian loanwords that reached Hebrew (through Akkadian), tagged [cognate].
38. ETCSL reading order (method): ETCSL's English for 140–249 is one paragraph block per scene; it was read after the parsing of 140–190 and during the parsing of 191–249 (the fates). The readings of 191–249 were formed from the ORACC morph and checked against it; every disagreement is recorded. Flagged for the coordinator in case a second look at 191–249 is wanted.

Proposals for the corpus renderings

From run 2 (lines 250–472); the full rows with lines are in `renderings.md`.

- The EWO formulas (to replace or supplement corpus §6.2's ugula row): {d}en-ki-ke₄ zag-ba nam-mi-in-gub = אנקי לצידו העמיד.; the refrain e₂-kur-re e₂ {d}en-lil₂-la₂-ke₄ niĝ₂ ĝal₂-la nam-si = את האכור, בית אנליל, נכסים מילא; and {d}en-ki-da {d}en-lil₂ mu-un-da-ḫul₂ nibru{ki} giri₁₇-zal-am₃ = עם אנקי שמח אנליל, ניפור – שמחה היא.; X gu₃ ba-an-de₂ (with addressee) = פנה X אל; Inana's complaint אישה אני – לבדידותי מה אמרת/עשית? / אני אִינַנָּה הטהורה – פולחניי היכן הם?; Enki's answer a-na a-ra-an-la₂ a-na a-ra-ab-taḫ-e-de₃-en = מה המעטתי לך? מה אוסיף לך?.
