L. W. King, Babylonian Religion and Mythology (London 1899), ch. IV "The Story of the Deluge"

- Author: Leonard William King (1869–1919), British Museum
- Publisher: London: Kegan Paul, Trench, Trübner, 1899 (Books on Egypt and Chaldaea 4)
- URL: https://archive.org/details/cu31924029165906 (Cornell, full view)
- Retrieved: 2026-10-16
- License / copyright: Public domain.

Files

- `cu31924029165906.pdf`: full book (4.8 MB).
- `cu31924029165906_djvu.ocr.txt`: OCR.
- `ch-IV-story-of-the-deluge.ocr.md`: OCR of ch. IV (pp. 121–145), King's translation of the flood narrative and his comparison with Genesis J/P. Uncorrected.

Line numbering

King's translation is partly continuous prose with occasional line references to Haupt's edition. Align by content.

Assessment

A short popular treatment by a leading BM Assyriologist, with an early J/P source-critical comparison. Obsolete readings (Bel = Enlil, Ṣit-napishtim, Nisir). Historical interest only.