I. P. Cory, Cory's Ancient Fragments of the Phoenician, Carthaginian, Babylonian, Egyptian and Other Authors, new ed. by E. Richmond Hodges (London: Reeves & Turner, 1876)

- URL: https://archive.org/details/corysancientfrag00coryuoft (Univ. of Toronto copy). Other editions: 1828 (https://archive.org/details/ancientfragments00coryuoft), 1832 2nd ed. with the Greek and Latin originals (https://archive.org/details/ancientfragments00coryrich, PDF 30 MB — not downloaded). Online text: https://sacred-texts.com/cla/af/ (Cloudflare-blocked for scripts on 2026-10-16).
- Retrieved: 2026-10-16
- Licence: public domain.
- Files: `corysancientfrag00coryuoft.pdf` (14 MB), `corysancientfrag00coryuoft_djvu.txt` (OCR), `archive-metadata.json`, `Cory-1876--Berossus-Abydenus-flood--English.ocr.md` (OCR extract: Abydenus on the kings and the deluge; Berossus/Polyhistor on the ten kings and the flood of Xisuthrus, pp. ~53–63).

Line numbering

None (prose); Cory cites Syncellus Chron. 28/38 and Euseb. Chron. 5, 8.

Assessment

Classic 19th-c. English translation (Hodges' edition adds Assyriological notes, e.g. Xisuthrus = "Ḫasis-adra"). Free and quotable, but old and free in places; use only as a secondary aid next to the Greek (DFHG) and modern translations (Burstein 1978; Verbrugghe & Wickersham 1996; De Breucker BNJ 680).