- API: https://www.ebl.lmu.de/api/texts/L/2/1/chapters/Standard%20Babylonian/-/display
- Edition: Adrian C. Heinrich (editor); E. Jiménez (revision); Tonio Mitto (editor)
- Translation: Benjamin R. Foster; Wasim Khatabe; Wadieh Zerkly
- Generated by `tools/ebl_fetch.py` on 2026-10-19 – do not edit by hand; re-run the tool instead.

Per line: N = normalized Akkadian reconstruction (`|` metrical foot, `||` caesura); T = eBL English translation; L = lemmas with eBL dictionary glosses; then notes, parallel lines, and the manuscripts' transliterations (ATF). Bibliography keys like [RN117: 889] are resolved in `bibliography.md` (RN117 = George 2003).

- Note: The reading of the last word follows the newly recovered fragment of the commentary @url{/fragmentarium/F.78}{F.78}, identified by T. Mitto. The metrical division of MS BabLB1 suggests parsing the line as nīš(i) ilīš(u)/iliš, “his oath” or “to/for/like an oath,” but this parsing would render the line impossibly difficult to understand. As taken here, the line refers to the king, who in choosing the sufferer would perform an action normally reserved to gods. Compare šarru šīr ilī šamšu ša nišīšu, “The king, incarnation of the gods, sun of his peoples” in Ludlul I 55. On the last line of the poem, see also the discussion in [dezorzi2024interplay], who argues that the poem constitutes a ring composition.
